Too Many Boards and Commissions Created, Declares Prof. Shewmake

Policy of Creating Boards With Law-Making Powers Is Liable to Abuse, He Says

The prevalent policy among legislative bodies in both State and National government to create boards, bureaus and commissions of many kinds, and giving them the power to make rules and regulations which shall have the full force and effect of law, is the result of a desire for speed in government and impatience with things that are constitutional, and as such are liable to much abuse and dissatisfaction, Prof. Oscar L. Shewmake, of the School of Government, declared here today in delivering the sixth of the constitutional lectures being given at the College of William and Mary under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship.

Prof. Shewmake drew an analogy between the present tendency in this country to grant broad powers to innumerable boards and commissions, and the reign of the Tudors in England, when Parliament granted to the sovereigns the power to make proclamations having the full force and effect of statute law. In the latter case, he said, the wisdom of the Commons in granting this right was at first apparent, for the Tudors were all wise rulers and added greatly to British betterment during their reigns. When the Stuarts came to the throne of England, however, the right granted to the Tudors by Parliament was greatly abused by the Stuarts, causing much suffering throughout the realms. It took, Prof. Shewmake stated, many years of war and countless lives to take away from the Stuarts the privilege they had abused.

Hughes Delivers Seventh Lecture

Prominent Alumnus Will Speak Again In Series On Constitutional Lectures

Dr. Robert M. Hughes, a prominent member of the Norfolk bar, and an alumnus of William and Mary, will deliver the seventh of the series of constitutional lectures being given at the college under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship. The lecture will be given in the chapel at 12 o'clock Saturday. The subject will be "Government of Virginia Prior to the Federal Constitution."

The speaker has already delivered one of the Marshall-Wythe lectures. His last lecture was largely attended, and it is expected that a number of townspeople as well as students will be in chapel tomorrow morning to hear him.

CAPTAIN OTTO LOWE

Otto Lowe, of South Norfolk, who will lead the Indians' 1922 baseball aggregation. This season will be the third in which the hefty lad from Tidewater has held down the hot corner for William and Mary. He is one of the best third sackers in Southern college baseball.

Baseball Men Have Their First Game

Varsity and Scrubs Battle During Week—Good Material On Hand

Fair weather, excellent for the national pastime, greeted the Indians on their first workout after the week-end of rain.

1922 SCHEDULE

Twenty-Two Games Listed For This Year's Baseball Tossers — Nine-Day Trip

The completed 1922 baseball schedule of William and Mary College was announced today by Athletic Director James G. Driver, and includes a list of twenty-two contents. The card is the heaviest and most comprehensive ever attempted by a William and Mary nine.

Features of the schedule are a nine-day trip to the North, meeting some of the strongest college teams in that section, a two-game series with the Newport News Virginia League Club, and a three-game series with the University of Richmond, the games to be played April 15 at Newport News, April 17 at Norfolk, and May 17 at Williamsburg. Last year the Indians defeated the University of Pennsylvania 4-2, on a trip to the Quaker City. William and Mary last year decisively defeated the University of Richmond, time honored rivals of the Indians, in a two-game series.

Coach Driver has nine letter men returned from last year's successful nine around which to build a winning aggregation this spring. New material is abundant, and since practice began, a number of freshmen have been exhibiting good form. The principal worry of the local mentor will be with the pitching staff, it seems.

The schedule follows:
April 1—Fort Monroe, here.

"PIKER" PARTY

"Goats" of Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Stage Enjoyable Affair

What has been pronounced as one of the best parties ever given at William and Mary was staged at the Pi Kappa Alpha House, on Peacock Hill, with the "goats" of Gamma chapter of the fraternity acting as hosts. Many townspeople, members of the faculty, and students were present, and thoroughly enjoyed the affair.

Greeting the guests was a large "Welcome" sign, and a small electric sign depicting the butting member of the family of quadrupeds, sometimes referred to as "Billy." The house was attractively decorated in the fraternity colors. Tempting refreshments consisting of chicken salad and sandwiches were served.

The college orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Among those present were the following:

Prof. and Mrs. Shewmake, Dr. and Mrs. Smoot, Mrs. Dovell, Mrs. Henley, Miss Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Steel, Otto Lowe with Miss Mary Ayres, Stuart Sorg with Miss Carrie Cole Lane, Aubrey Aaron with Miss Caroline Hill, Allie Stephens with Miss Mable Stratton, Alva Cooke with Miss Margaret Tuthill, Bill Henley with Miss Frances Gibbons, Asa Shields with Miss Lucile Jackson, George P. Green with Miss Gertrude Ebel, Whitten Hastings with Miss Sarah Rew, Joe Chandler with Miss Mary Zehmer, F. F. Chandler with Miss Amelia Walker, Lionel Levvy with Miss Mabel Brooks, Walter Schenck with Miss Julia Waters, Baker with Miss Annabelle Dennis, John Todd with Miss Dorothy Terrell, Chester Pierce with Miss Myree Hutchings, Tansil Maclin with Miss Virginia Isley, Ernest Dietz with Miss Edna Reid, Bob Wallace with Miss Hilda Butler, Floyd Sumner with Miss Lillian Woodley, Charles Hubbard with Miss Virginia Isley, Albert Belanger with Miss Florence Holston, Fred Dietz with Miss Dorothy Wilkinson, J. Campbell with Miss Anita Rucker, M. R. Piland with Miss Vinton Jeter,

WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE GETS MONEY FOR NEW DORMITORY FROM THE STATE

State Gives $80,000 For Building, Contingent On College Giving $120,000

The budget bill for the biennium 1922-23 has been passed by the General Assembly and signed by Governor E. Lee Trinkle. The bill as passed appropriates to William and Mary the sum of $351,000 for maintenance for the two years, and $80,000 for the erection of a dormitory for men. The latter appropriation is contingent on the college raising through its alumni and friends the sum of $120,000, to match the State's $80,000. The $80,000 is the result of a bill introduced in the House, as the Governor did not recommend the appropriation of money for the erection of a dormitory. The task of raising the sum of $120,000 necessary to meet the appropriation thus made by the General Assembly is no easy one, but it is believed the friends of the college will rally to the support of so worthy an object and that the dream of a much-needed dormitory will soon become a reality.

Colonial Echo Now In Hands of Printer

Work on the 1922 Colonial Echo is progressing nicely. It is expected that the annual this year will be in the hands of the students on time. Practically all photographs have been taken, and the proofs of many have been made up. Most of the written matter in the annual is in the hands of the printer.

Judging by the proof, and samples of the material sent in, the Echo this year will be one of the best ever gotten out at the college. The makeup of the book is an attractive one, and a novel cover is to be used.

Flat Hat Staff Candidates Out

Over twenty students, mostly men, were present Monday night to receive instructions regarding the competition for reportorial and staff positions on the Flat Hat. All were given assignments of one sort or another, and a few points in newspaper writing.

The articles will be submitted to the Flat Hat box by Sunday morning, and the successful candidates will be announced Monday or Tuesday, according to the time it takes the examining committee to go over the material.

Biology Club Meets

Interesting talks featured the bi-weekly meeting of the Clayton-Grimes Biology Club, held Monday in the Biology lecture room. All the talks were followed by general informal discussions.

Charles Jones spoke of the latest African anthropological find—The Broken Hill Skull—which may prove that the human race had its beginning in Africa. The Value of Vitamins to Animal Life was discussed by William Dick. A. E. Hopkins talked on the "Preservation of American Forests."

Miss Katherine Scott closed the program with a talk of "Bugs." This talk was illustrated by picture slides.

Refreshments were served by Miss Holman and LeGrand Tennis.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 21, at 7:30.

Y. W. C. A. ELECTIONS

Officers for next year were elected at a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. this week, as follows:

President, Frances Gibbons.
Vice-President, Susanne Garrett.
Undergraduate Rep., Elizabeth DeShazo.
Secretary, Mary Van Sickler.
Treasurer, Agnes Donaldson.
The chairmen of the Y. W. committees were elected at a meeting Saturday, as follows:
Program, Mildred Vaiden.
Social, Anita Rucker.
Social Service, Elizabeth Jackson.
Publicity, Lois Robinson.
Finance, Katherine Bradford.
World Fellowship, Ruth Shell.
Bible Study, Alice Clay.

Debate Council to Hold Preliminaries

The preliminaries for the selection of the inter-collegiate debaters will be held in the college chapel on Saturday, March 18th, at 7 o'clock. The student body is urged to be present on this occasion.

The debating team that will debate Colby College, Washington Square College, of New York University, and Richmond University this year, will be chosen at these preliminaries.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

The regular Sunday afternoon concert last week was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Coleman, on Court House Green, and was well attended. Miss Chapman added to the pleasure of the concert by giving a short sketch of each composition.

The concert for March 19 will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Crawford, on Boundary Street.

Educational Travel

The modern tendency is to stress the educational value of supervised travel. It is recognized as one of the greatest single factors in education. Dr. A. J. Armstrong, Head of the Department of English at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, for fifteen years has been stressing the value of foreign travel to his English students, and he has found that inestimable cultural advantage has accrued to hundreds of students who have gone with him to Europe.

This year in addition to his general European tour covering the best part of Europe, Dr. Armstrong has formed three parties for especial study in the modern languages. One which will spend the summer at Dijon, in the University and then later go to Switzerland and Oberammergau, another similar trip into Spain for the purpose of study at the University of Madrid and getting a very satisfactory idea of the country, and a third to Mexico for the purpose of studying Spanish in the University at the City of Mexico.

For these foreign travel courses majors will be given in recognized American Universities on the strength of the certificate secured from these foreign Universities. The prices are very reasonable varying from $400 to $885 and those interested should write at once to Dr. A. J. Armstrong at Waco, Texas.

Special Message On Enforcement of Law

Richmond, March 12.—At special services held today in the interest of law enforcement in Sunday Schools throughout the State, in connection with Law Observance Sunday, the following message from Federal Prohibition Commissioner R. A. Haynes, was read in each Sunday School:

"Everything that is worth while for you boys and girls of Virginia, and of all America, as well as you older people, rests upon a basis of law and order—your home, your school, your possessions, your fathers' business, property, bonds, bank, your happiness, your entire security, all depend upon the law for protection. Only one safeguard stands between governmental security and anarchy—the Constitution and the law.

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, gained for us by the noble sacrifices of our fathers, are secured to us by the Constitution and the laws of the land. Only so long as law and constituted authority are held in reverent regard by all our people are the free institutions of the land secure.

"There is only one Constitution and no part of that Constitution is less sacred than any other part. We cannot openly violate nor permit open violation of any law without at the same time fostering the spirit of anarchy that will eventually hold all law in contempt and disrepute.

"It is not enough that a boy or girl shall obey the law and enjoy the privileges and blessings secured to all under the law, but it is the duty of every good citizen to constitute himself, as far as his abilities will permit, a guardian and a defender of the law.

"The future of our beloved republic rests upon reverence for the Constitution, respect for law and acquiescence in the will of the majority. Safety for our benign institutions is secure if these vital virtues are inculcated in the minds and hearts of all rising Americans, and too much stress cannot be placed upon the importance of properly training our lives along the lines of law obedience.

"Nothing can serve the desired purpose better than memorizing, and making our own, the beautiful creed, which was formally adopted by Congress April 6, 1919, as the 'American Creed':

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; establishes upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

ATTEND MEETING

Dr. Joseph E. Rowe and Dr. A. F. McLeod attended the meeting of the Virginia Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, which was held in Richmond on March 10. It was a joint meeting of the electrical, chemical, and mechanical engineers of Virginia. The principal paper was read by Prof. Emmett Reid, of the Johns Hopkins University, on "Coal Tar Products,"

DURABLE LUGGAGE

Spring marks the arrival of many delightful week-ends, of short trips here and there and in general a time when good luggage is as essential as a wardrobe. For the short journey there are smart week-end bags and suitcases, fitted or plain. Wardrobe trunks of the best construction and materials assure the safe arrival of one's clothes in fresh unwrinkled condition. Money expended in the cause of good luggage more than repays the buyer in satisfaction and comfort.

throughout the week, the Coach will have his first scrimmage between the varsity and scrubs about Wednesday.

Infield practice has already begun. The locals' first game, with the Fort Monroe nine, is two weeks off. Between now and then the squad will probably be cut.

Some of the men, especially the pitchers, have been complaining of sore arms, and they will be given light workouts throughout the week in order to bring the soupbones into shape.

Among the new men who have shown up well are Cobb, outfield; Thompson, pitcher; Lane, pitcher; Jordan, pitcher; Todd, infield; Hardy, infield; Denton, infield; Jones, catcher; and Westwood, outfield.

NEWS STADIUMS EVERYWHERE

American universities which have completed athletic stadiums within the decade, or have provided for their construction, include California, Ohio State, Yale, Illinois, Stanford, Chicago, Washington, Princeton, Kansas, Pittsburgh, and the City College of New York. Of these, Yale's stadium cost $400,000 and seats 70,000; Washington spent $600,000 and can seat 60,000; California is spending $900,000 to seat 60,000; Illinois is planning a combined stadium and amphitheatre to cost $2,500,000; and Ohio State raised $1,250,000. No stadium yet completed has been large enough to meet the immediate demand for seats. These facts, together with the recent discussion of President Lowell, of Harvard University, on the relationship of intercollegiate athletics to the university, indicate two opposite trends which are likely to clash in the future.

Restriction of college attendance by some form of selection is finding many advocates now. Some presidents suggest personal tests for freshmen, some advise a strict weeding out of students during all four years, and some ask for admission only of students who have maintained a certain standing in high school.

"Then you've missed all your life!" cried the boatman.

No Examinations!

Wharton School Tries Out Abolition of Mid-Year Tests

Following its policy of abolishing the dreaded mid-year examinations, the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania may do away with examinations altogether.

"We are making a survey of the results of the new experiment during the present scholastic year," announced Dean Emery R. Johnson today. "If the abolition of the mid-year exams has proved a success we will probably eliminate the final examinations in June also."

This policy will be modeled somewhat after that of Oxford and Cambridge, where few final examinations are held.

"The students during the first term that ended on February 1 made better records than under the old examination system," commented Dean Johnson. "They were marked exclusively on the classroom quizz and daily recitation system. At the end of the term these marks were averaged and the delinquent student dropped from the rolls. But to date we have had very few such cases."

Recent statistics of the Wharton School faculty showed that fifty per cent less students were "conditioned" in the various courses that under the old system.

The Wharton School, if it abolishes final tests will go a step further than the present plan in vogue at the Law School which has no exams during the year or quizzes until the final examinations in June.

CONGRATULATE THE PRESIDENT

Hats off to our President, Dr. Chandler! Against all kinds of odds and handicaps, he has succeeded in convincing the General Assembly of Virginia that the college needs a new dormitory. And he has gotten an appropriation for one. To do that at any time is a worthy task, but in day when the Legislature is trying to save every penny that it can, and keep expenses at a minimum, the feat is indeed a noteworthy one.

The students have watched with deep interest and enthusiasm the result of Dr. Chandler's efforts to get a building that will properly house the men students. To a man they have expressed themselves as more than pleased with the result of his untiring efforts.

William and Mary, we might say, has for many years been rendering invaluable service to the State. To continue that work it was necessary to have proper housing facilities. The Legislature, after being convinced that such was the case, appropriated to William and Mary a sufficient sum for maintenance, and another sum for the erection of a new men's dormitory.

CHANGES IN RULES

Three changes have been made in next year's football rules which we believe will add much to the interest attached to the game. The most important one is the abolishment of the old method of kicking goals after touchdown. Under the new rule the team scoring a touchdown will be given the ball on the offensive on or past the five-yard line and will try by any method they can to score again, by line plays, kick, or passes. This, we think, will add much to the strategy of the game, as the second score will only count one point, and the offensive field general will debate which play it will be advisable to use.

The second change was in shift plays. Under the new ruling both feet must be on the ground and a perceptible stop made by the linemen. This rule will prevent a team taking advantage of a slow referee. Many of them have been in the habit of merely slowing up in a charge, instead of stopping.

Clipping from behind, one of the most dangerous practices on the grid-iron, is prohibited.

CONGRATULATES QUINT FOR SPLENDID BATTLE

The following letter is printed, not in any spirit of commendation, but to show the influence of a college weekly throughout the State. We have received similar letters before, but none which went into facts as this one has. The letter is as follows, being self-explanatory:

Editor of "The Flat Hat,"
William and Mary College,
Williamsburg, Virginia.

Dear Brother Editor:

I think that our school is indeed fortunate in having an exchange with a paper like you publish. The staff and myself are unanimous in the belief that it is one of the best papers on our exchange list.

I want to congratulate you on your "poets corner" and "humor column," both of which are read avidly by the students in this school.

Although impersonally interested, I followed with a great deal of interest the accounts before and the results after the game with the Spiders in Richmond. Allow me to congratulate your quint on its remarkable showing despite the fact that three of its members were in a state of convalescence prior to the game.

And I heartily approve of your editorial in regard to "alibis."

I can assure you of a copy of our paper each issue and we expect one of yours each time.

Hoping that our papers can be of mutual advantage to the other and congratulating you on your fine paper, I am,

Yours very truly,

RECORD SILK TRAIN

Four million, eight hundred thousand dollars worth of silk, one of the most valuable single cargoes of freight ever transported over an American railway, has just been sent over the electrified lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. This shipment was contained in the longest exclusively all-steel baggage train ever operated between Seattle and Chicago. The journey of 2174 miles was made on scheduled time.

The train contained fourteen baggage cars and one coach, the latter for employees. The weight of the train was 1325 tons. This is equivalent to 23 express refrigerators, and made it possible for the shipment to be made in one special train instead of two.

The "silk special" contained 448 cases of manufactured silk, and 4,808 bales of raw silk.

This cargo was bound from the Orient to New York, and it reached Seattle on the Japanese steamer Arabian Maru. It was hauled up the Cascade Mountains without a helper by one of the powerful 3,000 volt General Electric locomotives, and was lowered down the heavy grades on the other side by electric braking. With the electric locomotive the air brakes are held in reserve, and regenerative braking is used in descending grades.

The Chinese Students Christian Association in North America has about 1,500 members. The student Y. M. C. A. in China has 174 associations and 19,000 members.

With The Poets and Wags

ALL THAT'S NECESSARY

My little dimpled co-ed
At conversing's so uncouth;
If you say Bernard Shaw is good
She cooes, "Ain't it the truth?"

In speaking of great topics
If a question's at her hurled
She's capable of one reply
Which is, "I'll tell the world."

In hashing o'er philosophy
To ponder she's unable.
Without a thought she springs this wit,
"That's me all over, Mabel!"

But when she's decked out in her best,
Primped up in fur and fuzz,
Does she crowd all the boys about?
"Does she? I'll say she does!"
—Chaparral,
Leland Stanford University.

THE LAY OF A LOUNGE LIZARD

I cannot run or jump or fight,
Didotic verse I cannot write,
Nor can I madrigals indite—
I dance.

I cannot sing, nor can I play,
For music never came my way.
But everywhere I hear folks say—
I dance.

I cannot orate or make a speech;
Philosophy's beyond my reach;
There's only one thing I can teach—
To dance.

It's swell to be a great athlete,
With crowds of girls at every meet;
But women all adore my feet—
I dance. —Punch Bowl.

YIDDISH, ALL RIGHT

A Jew inquired about a certain doctor and was told the physician's fee was $15 for the first visit, and $10 for subsequent ones. The Jew went to the physician's office, and when the doctor entered, arose and shook his hand, saying: "Well, Doctor, here I am again!"

FASHIONABLE SCHOOL

A sporty-looking goof on the seaside makes you sick, but a swell on the sea makes you sicker. —Orange Owl.

Ed: "I'd rather be a business man than a doctor."

Med: "Why?"

Ed: "Because a business man works while a doctor only practices."
—Punch Bowl.

CRUEL WORLD

"Dearest," she whispered into his capacious ear, "now that we are married, I have a secret to tell you."

"What is it sweetheart?" he asked encouragingly.

"Can you forgive me for deceiving you?" she sobbed. "My—my left eye is made of glass!"

"Never mind, lovebird," he whispered, gently, "so is the diamond in your engagement ring."

SOLICITOUS

The chauffeur was speeding the car along at a great rate. And He and She were nestled coily in the back seat. After a long silence he said:

"Are you quite comfortable, dear?"

"Yes, love."

"The cushions are cozy and soft?"

"Yes, darling."

"You don't feel any jolts?"

"No, sweet one."

"And there is no draught on your back?"

"No, my ownest own."

"Then change seats with me."

—Tiger.

CRASH!

The orchestra softly played
"Kiss me again."
She gazed into his eyes and
And breathed a sigh.
"Your dancing is like a poem,"
She said.
"Yes, yes, go on," he Murmured.
"An Amy Lowell poem;
The feet
Are all mixed up," she answered.
—Yale Record.

A verdant young freshman named
Bertie,
Went out with a widow quite flirtie;
She thought it a joke,
When she left him flat broke,
But the poor little frosh thought it dirtie. —Wasp.

"I have a good job at the confectioner's."

"What do you do?"

"Milk chocolates!" —Showme.

He (over the phone): "Have you anything on tonight?"

She: "Not a thing, come on over."
—Wasp.

"You'd better lengthen those skirts, Mary."

"Uh?"

"Gentlemen are apt to mistake you for a little girl and take you upon their laps."

"Well?" —Tar Baby.

FIVE HUNDRED OF 'EM

Square: "I see where a designer says that women should dress in keeping with their personality."

Round: "It would bring down a storm of Blue Laws."

Square: "Why?"

Round: "Just think of those who haven't any."
—Chaparral.

A SLOGAN

Bite off more than you can chew,
Then chew it.

Plan for more than you can do,
Then do it.

Hitch your wagon to a star,
Keep your seat, and there you are.
—Exchange.

Herb, who had just had his last piece of chewing gum snatched by the tom-boy of the village:

"Mother, is Rotterdam a bad word?"

"Why, no, son; that is a name of a city in Holland."

Turning on his heels, he exclaimed with much feeling: "Then I hope it will Rotterdam teeth out."

—Richmond Collegian.

Students' Health Service

"First Health, Then Knowledge" Health Letter "COLDS"

The most prevalent source of infection that we have at present is the common cold. March seems to be the month in which there is a high incidence of this condition. The familiar symptoms of sneezing, running noses, tickling sensations in the throat with later some cough—all accompanied by chilly sensations and general mean feeling, are set up by a number of causative agents, some of which are not fully understood.

The Danger From Colds

Colds should be taken more seriously than usually is the case, first because many of the most serious diseases are ushered in by what appears to be a common cold; second, because they at times are very communicable and frequently sweep through a class-room and in their course some of the cases develop into serious conditions; third, because they directly and indirectly cause great discomfort and even suffering and economical loss of time to the individual; fourth, while colds are never fatal, the complications are serious.

The Prevention of Colds

1. Avoid infection.

Bacteria play a part in all colds—in fact, they are the specific cause. By keeping alert they may be avoided.

(a) Use only your own napkin, towel, spoon, fork, glass or cup.

(2) Share food, etc., only hygienically.

(c) Do not kiss.

(d) Keep pencils and fingers out of the mouth.

(e) Wash the hands before eating.
2. Avoid predisposing factors which diminish vital resistance.

(a) The body may be chilled in many ways—Outside wraps not consistent with outside weather and temperature; wearing too heavy clothing, particularly sweaters, indoors: damp clothing or feet; drafts when fatigued; lying down to sleep with insufficient covering; sudden exposure, after exercise, dance, shower, or swimming pool; open-work stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women.

(b) Breathing vitiated and dusty air.

(c) "Stuffing" especially when fatigued.

(d) Anxiety, worry, dissipation, home sickness, loss of sleep, or excess of any kind.

(e) Practically every cold is preceded by constipation.

It must be kept in mind that vigorous persons in prime health may contract a cold if they receive the infection. As March is the month of colds it should be the period of the year in which we take life as easy as possible.

Immediate Treatment of Colds

If you feel that you are "catching cold" go to the infirmary at once or if during office hours carry out the following measures. But do not use patent medicines.

(1) Take a glass of hot water with a little lemon juice or fruit to produce sweating.

(2) Take a hot shower without a cold dash (wrap yourself very warm).

(3) Take a cathartic.

(4) Gargle hot salt water.

(5) Go immediately to bed in a well ventilated room at uniform temperature and cover up warmly. Rest and sleep. If you do not feel perfectly normal by the next morning, secure medical advice during regular office hours at the infirmary.

Care of Colds

To prevent complications and expedite recovery, many precautions should be taken at this period of lowered resistance.

(a) You should demand as little of the body as possible—a day or two of rest in bed early in the course of a cold will do more to hurry convalescence than medicine without rest. You should not depend on medicine. A cheerful disposition is the best medicine.

(b) Attending meetings of the student body and frequenting motion picture houses causes undo excitement besides the possibility of lack of proper ventilation at these assemblies. You may receive further infection there or spread your infection. Colds are most contagious during early stages.

(c) If the throat is sore use the voice as little as possible. Do not cheer at any athletic contest. Check unproductive coughing as much as possible. Avoid local irritation by tobacco.

(d) Breathe deeply of fresh air. Drink plenty of water between meals.

(e) Frequent violent blowing of the nose is harmful—if carelessly done it may drive infection into the middle ear and sinuses. You cannot blow out swollen and congested bones of the nose and it is better not to try. Nasal douches are as a rule to be avoided except on medical advice.

(f) If you must go out doors—keep moving.

(g) Avoid cold bathing at this time.

Helpful Hints

Sneeze and cough in your handkerchief. Turn your head when laughing. If you have repeated colds, speak of it when visiting the infirmary and see if there is any local cause which may be removed.

"All for health for all."

C. D. HART,
Health Officer, S. H. S.

DR. DILLARD AGAIN RECTOR OF BOARD

college is to be congratulated on his reappointment. As Rector of the Board, his services has been invaluable.

Four other members were appointed by Governor Trinkle at the same time, Senator G. Walter Mapp, of Accomac; Senator J. Douglas Mitchell, of Walkerton; R. L. Spencer, of Williamsburg; and J. H. Cofer, of Norfolk. These gentlemen succeeded Southall Farrar, of Amelia; Carroll Pierce, of Alexandria; W. P. Cocke, of Williamsburg; and D. S. Jones, of Newport News. The newly appointed members will serve until March 7, 1926.

ALUMNUS WINS PRIZE

Gwendolen Haste of Billings, Mont., and Martin Feinstein of the staff of the Menorah Journal have just been announced as winners of the Nation's Poetry Prize, the award being divided between them. Miss Haste's short poem is entitled "The Ranch in the Coulee," and Mr. Feinstein's piece, much longer, is called "In Memorium." Nearly 2,500 poems by nearly 1,000 poets were submitted, the judges announcing that this year's efforts showed a considerable advance in meritorious form and workmanship over the previous contest. They have noted, too, a decidedly larger proportion of rhymed verse than appeared in the contest of 1920. Pure lyrics in 1921 were not numerous, the tendency of the briefer pieces being toward satire or miniature drama. Gwendolen Haste, one of the winners, has contributed before to the Midland, Poetry, the Pagan and the Lyric West. Martin Feinstein was born in Brooklyn, studied at William and Mary College and at the University of Michigan, was graduated from Michigan in 1914, and taught rhetoric there for three years. During the war he served with the 306th Infantry.

Pictures at the Palace Next Week

SHOWS AT 4, 7, 8:30 P. M.

MONDAY

"The Heart of Maryland," a Vitagraph special production, which is of interest to school children because of the historic value, will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Monday. The story is laid in the South at the time of the Civil War, and in order that the production might have an educational as well as entertaining value, Vitagraph secured as scenic background authentic sites in which famous events took place. A big antebellum house used for many of the scenes was owned at one time by one of the wealthiest and most historic families of the South. In this house Jefferson Davis, the president of the Southern Confederacy, was married, and in the same room many of the great balls given in honor of Henry Clay took place.

TUESDAY

Charles Dickens' last complete novel, "Our Mutual Friend," will be shown at the Palace Theatre Tuesday night, with an all star cast. The screen version of the novel is said to be more interesting than even the book itself, which is well known to most students. The scenes and photography are of the very best, nothing having been spared to make the picture a high class one.

WEDNESDAY

William de Mille, invariably careful of his productions for Paramount, naturally does not overlook the importance of casts. So, in order to keep his latest production, "The Lost Romance," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday, up to the high standard he had previously set by such pictures the "What Every Woman Knows," "Midsummer Madness" and "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," he has chosen a remarkably well balanced cast for the photoplay. Jack Holt, Conrad Nagel, Lois Wilson, Fontaine La Rue, Maym Kelso, Robert Brower and Mickey Moore are among those who compose the exceptional roster of players.

THURSDAY

Does wealth mean happiness? This question is answered in Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "A Prince There was," from the George M. Cohan success, which will be seen at the Palace Theatre next Thursday. In this picture the star plays the role of a wealthy but unhappy young man who believes intoxication to be the only balm for his fretfulness. But then he falls in love, finds a motive in life, plays the prince and finds real contentment, after a story that is rich in romance, dramatic flavor and human emotion. Tom Forman directed the production, the story of which was adapted by Waldemar Young. Mildred Harris, Charlotte Jackson, Nigel Barrie, Sylvia Ashton and others are in the cast.

FRIDAY

How the blunder of a young doctor in needlessly cutting off both his legs when he was a little boy, so embittered a man, that his life became a cunning campaign of hate and destruction for society, is the graphic theme of "The Penalty," the new Goldwyn Picture by Gouverneur Morris, to be shown at the Palace Theatre next Friday.

"Blizzard" (Lon Chaney), broods always over that terrible moment when, after the accident, he was coming out from under the ether and heard the older surgeon accuse his young assistant of having needlessly wrecked the boy's life by amputating both his legs.

SATURDAY

"Fightin' Mad," which comes to the Palace Theatre on next Saturday, is a picture of a red-blooded young American who finds the course of ordinary life rather too prosaic and seeks adventure by becoming a member of the Border Patrol.

In this Metro release for William Desmond Productions, from the original story of H. H. Van Loan, who wrote "The Virgin of Stamboul, and many other screen successes, William Desmond, star of the stage and screen, has another of those thrilling outdoor pictures, filled with love, romance and adventure.

TOO MANY BOARDS CREATED, DECLARES PROF. SHEWMAKE

The rules and regulations made by these boards and commissions, having the full force and effect of law, are not made by the representatives of the people, the speaker asserted, either in the State or the Federal government. Some day, he said, they will be abused, just as in the time of the Stuarts, and their abuse will necessarily lead to serious consequences.
